OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY EXTENSION

Master Money Mentor Program

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

COLLEGE OF FOOD, AGRICULTURAL, AND ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCES

The program

What it does

The Master Money Mentor Program gives you personal help with money matters. A qualified volunteer, called a Master Money Mentor, helps you learn to:

- Keep records
- Plan a budget
- Control spending
- Pay bills on time
- Work with creditors
- Use community resources

What it doesn't do

The program does not provide money or loans. Master Money Mentors cannot act on your behalf. Instead, they help you take charge of your own situation.

Who helps

Master Money Mentors are volunteers from the community who want to help others. They complete an Ohio State University Extension training course.

How it works

No cost

- Although you do not pay for the program, you will have certain responsibilities:
- All adults who share the income need to meet with the Master Money Mentor
- Keep appointments and be on time
- Provide necessary information
- Be willing to change your attitudes, ideas, and spending habits

Master Money Mentors are not paid or reimbursed for expenses.

Meetings

Your Master Money Mentor will call to arrange a meeting with you. Where and when you meet is up to you and your Master Money Mentor. How often you meet will depend on your needs and situation.

Master Money Mentor* is a free and confidential educational program

How to enroll

Anyone living in Wayne County can call to enroll.

Others should contact their local Extension office. If you know of people who would benefit from the program, encourage them to call. We cannot accept third party referrals.

Call Ohio State University
